

THE SARTISTS

The Sartists are a creative collective comprising Kabelo Kungwane and Wanda Lepphoto. Formed in 2012, the two school friends document their lives and style in post-apartheid South Africa. Through their work and collaborations with fellow young creatives, The Sartists aim to recreate and communicate untold authentic African stories through fashion and photography. This has caught the attention of international brands such as Adidas, Stussy, Levi's and Converse, who've sought out the collective to lend their distinct sartorial aesthetic to brand campaigns. In addition to this, the collective has been featured in several style documentaries and publications chronicling contemporary fashion and style in Africa.
