As a former creative director, Mark Newton understands brands, their communication objectives and what a creative director requires from its imagery.

With over 30 years' experience conceptualising and creating global fashion, sports and lifestyle campaigns.

Mark has a multidisciplinary approach and brings a full suite of creative skills to his work.

His calm and confident approach coupled with excellent technical knowledge makes him a favourite photographer for many international clients.

After nearly two decades as a professional photographer, Mark remains insatiably excited about making images.

"The thought that my best work is yet to come drives my picture taking. Every day is a new shoot, a new brief with new challenges to overcome to deliver a product that connects with people emotionally."

Comfortable shooting both film and digital, Mark's imagery is sophisticated and emotive, encapsulating entire narratives within each frame.

Kalita Beach Wrap in Sunset Orange

Her tongue slid across mine
as if it were sealing
the envelope
to a love letter
full of all the things
she could never confess.
